

DR. CARREL PRAISES AMERICANS IN PARIS

Says Universal Attention Is Paid Here to Every Development of Science.

BUT HE'LL REMAIN FRENCH

Prominent Persons Attend Lecture by Savant at the Broca Hospital.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
PARIS, June 16.—Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Research Institute of New York, the Nobel prize winner, delivered a lecture at the Hospital Broca today. There was a brilliant audience, which included Prince Roland Bonaparte, the Princess George of Greece and M. Georges Clemenceau, who was a guest before he adopted the profession of overturning Cabinets.

A young legation attaché who came to the hospital asked the doctor how he could get a new leg. He was disappointed when Dr. Carrel told him that he must wait another generation before that could be done.

Dr. Carrel described the transplantation of the organs and the use of skin from the corpses of stillborn babies which had been preserved with vasoline in cold storage until they were needed for grafting purposes. He said the technical task of changing the kidney or limb or thick, for example, was practically as simple as the operation for removing the appendix, but from a biological point of view it was a different matter. Individuality intervened and the way was still mysterious.

The removal of an organ from an animal and then replace it, said Dr. Carrel, was always successfully carried out, but when the kidney of one Ape is placed in another it performs its functions perfectly, but develops lesions, and the animal dies in forty days.

Dr. Carrel in interviews here said: "It is strange what infinite capacity Americans show for taking an interest even in what they only half comprehend. There is no snobbery in this. No it is the constant wakefulness of mind and the universal attention which is paid in that country to every new development."

Questioned regarding the report that he was thinking of becoming an American citizen, Dr. Carrel said:

"I shall remain a Frenchman. I do not intend to become a naturalized American. I owe much to America, which has encouraged me and taken my discoveries seriously, but I am compelled to give the flesh of my arm to save an American I would do so by presenting he was a Frenchman."

Speaking again of his experiments, Dr. Carrel said:

"I can only operate on the heart, lungs and arteries of an animal. I have had many struggles with the measures which the American anti-vivisection societies have been taking. Why electrocute a condemned man? Why not give him a body? The condemned man will not suffer any more and he will render a last service to society, which he has dishonored."

ARGENTINE MEAT PRICES CUT.

Independent Companies Agree on 25 to 50 Per Cent. Reduction.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
BUENOS AIRES, June 16.—The Anglo-Argentine meat companies which do not belong to the allied trust have determined to cut the price of export meat from 25 to 50 per cent. This action was taken because of the refusal of the Minister of Agriculture to take any action to prevent the American companies from securing a monopoly of the meat trade.

The official investigators into the complaints of the Anglo-Argentine companies say they found that these companies had established limit prices for their stock, but that the companies deny.

The managers for the Armour and Swifts testified under oath that no American trust in Argentine meat exists. They claimed that they could buy stock at $7.00 a head and sell it at an average of 7 cents a pound without loss. They could make a profit at 5 cents a pound.

FRENCH ARMY DEBATE ENDS.

Attempt to Postpone Vote on Three Year Term Is Defeated.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
PARIS, June 16.—The three years military service bill again occupied the Chamber of Deputies today. Several Socialist speakers maintained that the Government was anxious to increase the length of service in view of the occupation of Morocco or owing to an agreement with Russia which was concluded last summer.

Premier Brienne denied both statements. M. Fauriol, the Minister of War, again explained that the Government, in passing the bill, was not aware of the fact that the German army was about to be increased from 700,000 to 800,000 men, which would allow it to face the present step. This would allow it to face all eventualities. He believed that an army of 500,000 could with difficulty do what it would be expected to when it faced a hostile army of 800,000.

By a vote of 435 to 125 the Chamber then pronounced closure on the general discussion of the bill.

M. Billa-Vallant moved that the discussion of the articles in the bill be postponed until after the general election, when the opinion of the country could be secured. This was defeated by a vote of 412 to 149.

MRS. PANKHURST MUST PAY.

Merchants Get $7,000 Judgment for Damage Caused by Militants.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, June 16.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who was released from Holloway jail this morning, did not appear in court today when the cases of London merchants for damages inflicted by the militants were called. Her license says she must return to Holloway jail on June 23, but her doctor says to-night that he has never seen her in a more exhausted condition.

The suits were brought in the King's Bench Division by many merchants against Mrs. Pankhurst and her daughter, Christa, who is now in Paris, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lawrence. Judgment was granted for the full amount claimed, $7,000.

The library of St. John's College, Cambridge, has been closed to the public because of the discovery that the backs of some three hundred books had been slashed. A note for women's card was found near by.

"Dry Goods Economist" Medal

MEDAL FOR JOHN WANAMAKER.

Presented by "Dry Goods Economist" for "50 Years of Original Retailing."

John Wanamaker was yesterday presented with a silver medal for "fifty years of original and progressive retailing" by the Dry Goods Economist. The presentation took place in Mr. Wanamaker's private offices. It is the second award made by this magazine for distinguished achievement in the dry goods field, the first having gone to Marshall Field & Co. five years ago.

In tendering it A. C. Pierson, manager of the paper which has established itself as an authority in this field, said that Mr. Wanamaker was entitled to a place on the honor roll for the originality, foresight and practicality of his mercantile operations. He spoke of the Wanamaker modern and progressive spirit and the fine training for employees the stores offered.

"Mr. Wanamaker has infused his spirit into the active operations of his business as has perhaps no other man," said Mr. Pierson. "There is not a counter in the store or an advertisement in a paper that is not permeated with your ideas and individuality, sir."

An editorial in the Economist says: "In the field of American retailing there is no single individual who has exerted so broad an influence upon the entire trade as John Wanamaker, and in consideration of the health, comfort and education afforded employees his establishments take rank among the leaders."

On the face of the medal is the figure of a woman with a spindle representing the dry goods trade and that of a man typifying commerce in general.

NEW PLAY FOR THE MANHATTAN.

Lee Shubert Will Produce Latest Drury Lane Success Here.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, June 16.—Lee Shubert has arranged to open the fall season at the Manhattan opera house in New York with the Drury Lane success "The House in Simon Street." Both "The House in Simon Street" and "The House in Simon Street" are new plays. Granville Barker's Shakespearean season under Winthrop Ames will follow Forbes-Robertson at the New Theatre.

Mr. Shubert's arrangements for London include the bringing over of the entire Winter Garden show to the Hippodrome and the production of Kalm's new opera, of which Henry Savage has the American rights, at a West End Theatre.

May Yone got a fine reception at the London opera house to-night, when she appeared in the revue now running there, after fifteen years absence from the English stage. She looked surprisingly young. She sang one verse of her famous song "Honey, Ma Honey." Her remarkable lower notes are apparently unimpaired.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

TELLS HOW KAISER SAVED CONSTITUTION

Prof. Hintze Says Emperor Destroyed Great Uncle's Appeal to Revoke Act.

JUBILEE FETES BEGIN

Andrew Carnegie Presents Address Signed by Many Prominent Americans.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
BERLIN, June 16.—How the Kaiser tore up the political testament of his great-uncle, King Frederick William IV. of Prussia, in the interests of constitutional government was disclosed for the first time to-day. It is a remarkable revelation of the secret history of the Prussian king and will stand out among the prominent features of the Kaiser's jubilee.

The disclosure was made, evidently with the Kaiser's consent, by Prof. Hintze, rector of the Berlin University, at the jubilee celebration there.

Prof. Hintze, in the course of an address in which he discussed the development of Germany and the Kaiser's share therein, declared that nobody was less inclined than the present Emperor to govern contrary to the Constitution. In illustration of this the professor said the Kaiser told him some years ago a historical fact which hitherto has been unknown to his father.

"During the last hours of his father," continued Prof. Hintze, "the Kaiser was informed by the Minister of Justice, Dr. Friedberg, that immediately after Emperor Frederick's death a sealed document of great importance which had been prepared for this event would be laid before him, and indeed this was the first thing his Imperial Majesty found in his writing table. He opened it and recognized at once the characteristic writing of King Frederick William IV. with many underlinings and notes."

Wanted Constitution Revoked.

King Frederick William had, as is well known, all his life clung to the idea of replacing the Constitution which was born in the storm and tumult of the year of the revolution (1848), and had attempted to exercise his influence beyond his death on his successors with all the power which the dead can bring to bear upon the living in order to secure the fulfillment of this royal wish, which was to be laid before every successor to the throne on his accession. The will contained an exhortation couched in the strongest and most urgent terms to overthrow the Prussian Constitution before taking the oath.

"Our present Emperor," continued Dr. Hintze, "had just as little inclination as his two predecessors to accede to this appeal of his royal granduncle, but he went further. He considered that at some future day a young and inexperienced ruler might be impressed, and from that time," said his Majesty, "I felt as if I had a barrel of gunpowder in the house and had no peace till the testament was destroyed." The political testament, as it was called, was burned and the envelope returned to the royal archives with the inscription "contents burned."

It was apparent from Prof. Hintze's statement that the testament was handed to both the first and second Emperors, who returned it to the archives without acting on it.

Jubilee Celebration Begins.

Today's celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of Emperor William to the imperial throne turned itself into a country-wide tribute to the Emperor's personal popularity among all classes of his subjects. The occasion was celebrated throughout all the German Empire as a general holiday.

While the day coinciding with the forty-second anniversary of the Emperor's grandfather's victorious return after the Franco-Prussian War, was marked by brilliant military display, particular emphasis was put on the advance of the industrial and civic interests of the empire and the note of peace was everywhere sounded.

The Emperor's speech was attuned to an address from the American peace societies. Andrew Carnegie spoke for the peace organizations and congratulated the Emperor on twenty-five years of peace. With Mr. Carnegie were J. S. Brookings of St. Louis and J. S. Schmidlapp of Cincinnati. The Emperor assured a delegation from the British Church in Berlin that he would continue to do his best to preserve peace.

Military bands summoned the Emperor to his window with a general reveille to start the day's program. When the Kaiser had appeared at the window the bandmen left the courtyard of the castle and paraded to the Brandenburg Gate at the other end of Unter den Linden.

7,000 School Children Sing.

As soon as the crashing band had gone 7,000 school children took their places in the castle court and sang. The hours from 11 until 2 o'clock were set apart for the reception of deputations and the presentation of addresses. The delegates who waited on the Emperor represented organizations of every sort, bringing illuminated addresses and some of them handsome gifts.

An endowment of $6,250,000 raised by the German municipalities for charitable and educational purposes was the most important testimonial given.

The army's gift to the Kaiser was a Field Marshal's staff and the navy gave a great silver eagle. During the day the Emperor conferred many decorations and orders in which art, literature, science and commerce were well remembered.

The Kaiser and Kaiserin drove through the streets this evening and had a tremendous reception. They were cheered incessantly. The Emperor and Empress evidently enjoyed the demonstration, as they smiled and bowed continuously.

The day's festivities ended with a gala performance at the Royal Opera House, where all the members of the imperial family, dignitaries of State, Ambassadors and people in high station were present. There was a brilliant display of jewels and uniforms.

ANDREW CARNEGIE'S ADDRESS.

German Emperor Thanked for Efforts to Promote Peace.

The address presented by Andrew Carnegie read as follows: "On behalf of organizations and societies which represent the effort of American citizens of every section, creed and race to advance the cause of civilization, we venture to express to your Imperial Majesty our congratulations upon a reign notable in countless ways, in none more so than in the maintenance of twenty-five years of unbroken peace between Germany and the other nations of the world. The memorable words of your Majesty shortly after ascending the throne, "the peace of my country is sacred to me," came both from the head and from the heart; sacred blood the peace, the order and the prosperity of the German people have been more than once during the past twenty-five years it has been the high privilege of your Majesty not only to preserve peaceful liberator but to inspire it in others. We beg to tender our thanks to your Imperial Majesty for what you have done to prevent war and to advance the coming of the day when there shall be peace upon earth to men of good will.

Commercial Developments.

In addition to the preservation of international peace we know well that every department of government has received and is receiving your sympathetic cooperation. The remarkable developments in the commerce and the manufacturing of Germany and the improved condition of agriculture owe much to your Majesty's judicious and unwearied efforts. During your Majesty's reign the condition of the masses of the German people has steadily improved. Their education is now better and more practically helpful than ever before, the laws for the protection of the public health, for the compensation and care of the aged, the injured and the incapable are all due in large measure to your Majesty's support and approval.

We congratulate your Majesty upon the notable advance made by Germany in every field of human effort during your peaceful, prosperous and civilizing reign. Long may it continue unbroken."

SAYS KAISER LIKES FRANCE.

Paris "Figaro" Praises Emperor for His Courtesy.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
PARIS, June 16.—Commenting on the celebration of the Kaiser's jubilee the Figaro points out that the Emperor, during the twenty-five years of his reign, has never lost an opportunity to show marks of courtesy toward France. The Frenchman who has visited Berlin and has met the Kaiser has been charmed by his personality. The Kaiser, says the paper, likes and appreciates France, but naturally prefers Germany. Frenchmen sometimes forget the Kaiser's good will. This is a sad mistake.

WOMEN DEBATE ON MILITANCY.

League Congress Declines to Declare Its Opposition.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
BRISTOL, June 16.—The chief incident at to-day's session of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance was a discussion as to the attitude of the congress toward militancy. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, the president, announced that a large number of petitions had been received asking the congress to declare its opposition to militancy. She, however, was not in favor of any such definite course and submitted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That since the International Alliance for Woman Suffrage is bound to the strictest impartiality in matters of national tactics it can express neither favorable nor unfavorable opinion, but since neither revolution nor revolt were ever advanced as arguments against men's suffrage, this congress protests against the action of the enemies of woman suffrage who take as an excuse for withholding their right from the women of the whole world the tactics adopted by the minority in a single country."

This resolution was carried unanimously.

SERBS AND BULGARS AGAIN NEAR WAR

Austria Refuses to Take Further Action in Urging Peaceful Settlement.

RUSSIA CAUSES TROUBLE

Emperor Francis Joseph Settled at the Czar's Attitude.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, June 17.—The Balkan situation continues to look ugly. Although Bulgaria and Serbia have both accepted the arbitration of the Czar in the matter of their dispute about territory each maintains its own attitude regarding the treaty which it is desired to amend. The Serbian irritation over the delay in settling the trouble has been reawakened and King Ferdinand's reply to the Czar has increased the feelings of the rival armies to the most inflamed pitch.

Premier Pashich has withdrawn his resignation at the request of King Peter. It is said that Bulgaria will refuse to attend the conference of the Premiers of the four States of the Balkan League at St. Petersburg unless Serbia gives a guarantee that she will accept the decisions of the conference. The other members of the Balkan League have signified their intention to have their Premiers attend the conference.

Austria appears to be nettled over Russia's initiative in the matter of arbitration between Bulgaria and Serbia and has refused to take any further share with other Powers in pressing the Balkan States to mobilize.

The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in Paris reports that there is friction between the representatives of the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente at the financial conference of representatives of the Balkan States, Turkey and the Powers, which was called to adjust economic matters growing out of the war.

The collection realized altogether nearly $100,000. One lot of drawings reached $8,925, but was withdrawn. A Japanese screen sold for $735.

DYNAMITE SHIPMENT HELD UP.

Crew of Steamer at Havana Refuse to Handle Explosive.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
HAVANA, June 16.—There is more trouble over the large consignment of dynamite for Mexico, which the steamer Thorwald brought here from New York for transshipment to the steamer Cienfuegos. The port authorities would not allow the transfer to be made here and now the crew and mechanics of the Cienfuegos refuse to handle the dynamite or to sail on the vessel if it is placed on board of her.

At a meeting of the cabinet this afternoon it was decided to ston all extra work on the sewerage and paving of Havana which was not included in the original contract.

The city of Matanzas will probably issue a bond of $2,000,000 to clear up its municipal debt, which are pressing.

She will eventually join the Red Cross Society.

The Prince and Archduchess quarrelled on their honeymoon. They separated several times because of irreconcilable tempers, but were reconciled. The highest court in Bavaria annulled the marriage before the action of the Papal court. The Archduchess is a handsome woman and one of the richest members of the Austrian imperial house.
